

Menstrual Cycle Survey

[SrvBIU_MENSINTRO_v2r0] Hormones and other signals in the body change throughout the menstrual cycle. With information about the start date of your menstrual periods before and after you donated samples, we can pinpoint where you were in your menstrual cycle when you donated your samples.

[SrvBIU_MENSINTRO2_v1r0] When you donated samples for the Connect for Cancer Prevention Study, you told us the date of your last menstrual period, which started on [insert SrvBIU_MENSTART_v2r0].

Today, we are asking about your next menstrual period. We understand there are a number of reasons why you may not have had a menstrual period since your last cycle, including perimenopause and hormone and contraceptive use, among other reasons. If you have not had a menstrual period yet, please answer “no” to the following question. Your answers help us understand where you were in your cycle when you donated samples. This information is important because some markers in blood such as hormones change throughout the menstrual cycle.

We take your privacy seriously and protect your information according to federal security standards. We store your survey answers separately from your personal identifying information

1. [SrvBIU_MENS1_v1r0] Has your next menstrual period started?
